ADDENDUM #1 to

RESEARCH ON THE ANCESTRY OF WILLIAM GOLDING (C1704-C1782) OF ORANGE COUNTY, VIRGINIA AND NINETY SIX DISTRICT, SOUTH CAROLINA

New information has come to light which stongly suggests that the subject William Golding's mother Cassandra (maiden name yet unknown) had had two marriages (vice one) and at least three children born to her prior to her marriage to John Golding. Also a theory on the possible identity of Cassandra before her marriages is presented based at this time on very tenuous Information.

The name Cassandra was a very uncommon given name in colonial Virginia. So it appears as no coincidence that a woman named Cassandra, living near where Robert Moss had lived and in the immediate vicinity of the Button's Range land patent previously described in Essex County between Occupacia Creek and Gilson's Run, was married by the early 1690s to Henry Wood (son of John Wood) who lived in this area. That she was the same Cassandra who was the widow of Laomedon Tucker and who married subsequently John Golding is apparent by a close examination of the [Old] Rappahannock County and Essex County, Virginia records and neatly fills in the gap between 1710 when Cassandra Golding first appears in the records and 1685 when her apparent first husband Laomedon Tucker is last mentioned in the Essex records as a legatee in the last will of Robert Moss.

In his will, Robert Moss bequeathed "unto Laomedon Tucker or his two Children already borne (to wit) Daniell and Mary one mare fold [foal] of one yeare old to them & their heirs for Ever, & also two Earling [yearling] heifers to the said Daniell & Mary I give to be them & their increase in Common between them ye said Daniell & Mary for Ever".[1] These two children of Laomedon Tucker were born to a wife previous to Cassandra and who was probably a daughter of Robert and Rebecca (Jones) Moss, but who had died prior to her father's 1685 will. Robert Moss was approximately 66 years old in 1689 when he died and his last will was probated, as at a Court held on 5 March 1684/5 he had given his age as sixty two years old, thus being born about 1622.[2]

Laomedon Tucker was already remarried in 1685 or shortly to marry Cassandra, who, as a surviving widow of Laomedon Tucker, would have had an interest in the 100 acre tract that Robert and Rebecca Moss had given to Laomedon Tucker as a deed of gift on 3 September 1679 "for diverse good causes...as also for the love and affection wee beare unto Laomedon Tucker",[3] which 100 acre tract of land had then later been inherited by his son Daniel Tucker.

This clearly explains why Cassandra Golding, if the widow of Laomedon Tucker, would be required by law to relinquish her dower right (i.e., her right to 1/3 of this 100 acre tract previously owned by Laomedon Tucker) when her stepson Daniel Tucker and his wife Elizabeth sold the tract to Cornelius Sale in the deed dated 12 March 1711/2.[4]

This tract of land was described as "being in the Parish of Sittingburne on south side of Rappahannock River back in the woods on the SW branch of Occupacy Creek beginning at a marked red Oak the corner tree of the land of Robert Gaines, and runing thence along the line of the land of Thomas Parker for length, a certaine proportional quantity of perches according to the dimension of land above specified thence the next course into the land above specified, thence the next course into the land of Robert Moss according to proportion parrellel with the first course back againe, to the line of William Bates and finally along the said line to the first mentioned station".

I estimate that Cassandra was born about 1665 and was much younger than Laomedon Tucker, whose son Daniel appears to have been in his teens when his probable grandfather Robert Moss made his last will in 1685, based upon the language in Moss's will previously cited in which he allowed Daniel Tucker "the Use and benefitt of housing and ground to plant his Cropp on and his Diett from time to time & at all times as Long as the said Daniell shall Live". This provision may have been intended to allow Daniel Tucker to live on his grandfather Moss's land if he so desired rather than live with his father and a stepmother.

Of related interest is a royal land patent granted to Thomas Powell on 24 October 1650 for 500 acres on the north side of the Rappahannock River in what was then Lancaster County for the transport of 10 persons, among whom were "Leonnidon Tucker and wife".[5] This headright is I believe in fact the subject Laomedon Tucker and a first wife. If so, this would put Laomedon's birth circa 1625-30.

This Thomas Powell was father of the Thomas Powell who died leaving a will in Essex County in 1700 with wife Mary (Place) Powell and surviving sons Place Powell, Honorias Powell, Thomas Powell, and William Powell, and daughters Elizabeth Salmon [wife of John Salmon], Anne Coffey [wife of Edward Coffey], and Frances Powell.[6] The Thomas Powell who died in 1700 had bought land in Rappahannock (now Essex) County which was in the vicinity of the land of Robert Moss and adjoined a royal land patent of 29 acres granted to John Wood on 23 October 1690 which also was "nigh land of Button" [i.e. the Button's Range land patent of 3650 acres which was where Robert Foster bought land in Essex County in 1692].[7]

This John Wood had purchased an additional tract of 170 acres in then Rappahannock (now Essex) County from the brothers Robert Moss (wife Rebecca) and Thomas Moss (wife Elizabeth) on 11 July 1674[8] which was land that Robert and Thomas Moss had bought from Henry German and wife Dorothy on 3 November 1668 for 2,000 lbs. of tobacco which was described as "being in the Parish of Sittingbourne it being the one halfe or moiety of a parcell of land formerly purchased by me the said German of Daniel Gaines and according as the aforesaid moiety was formerly land butt unto Richard Good it being one hundred and seaventie acres more or less".[9]

This 170 acre tract, along with the adjoining 29 acre tract John Wood had patented in 1690, constituted the 199 acres that John Wood [Sr.] gave as a deed of gift [after the death of his son Henry Wood] to his grandson John Wood in 1700 and would pass in turn, if John should die without legal heirs, to Henry Wood's other children Henry and Elizabeth Wood, and if all of these should die without legal heirs, then to Henry's widow Cassandra during her lifetime, and then to Thomas Wood, son of the grantor.[10]

Cassandra was apparently not married very long to Laomedon Tucker before his death, since she would have had to have married Henry Wood sometime in the early 1690s to have had John and Elizabeth Wood born before 6 Oct 1697, when John Wood [Sr.] made his last will, which was probated on 10 April 1701. His will made bequests of a cow and calf to each of these two children of his still-then-living son Henry Wood.[11] Cassanda Wood made her mark as witness to a deed on 21 September 1696 in which her father-in-law John Wood and wife Abigail sold back to David Jenkins and wife Ann (the widow of George Williams) a 50 acre tract which had been bought by George Williams in 1684 and subsequently bequeathed by him to his wife in his will, and subsequently sold by Jenkins and his wife Ann to John Wood on 9 September 1696.[12]

Henry Wood [Jr.], the youngest child of Henry and Cassandra Wood, was probably not born before October 1697, since he is not mentioned in his grandfather's last will. But he is mentioned in the deed of gift dated 10 May 1700 in which John Wood [Sr.] gave the total of 199 acres in two adjoining tracts as noted above to his grandson John Wood, son of Henry Wood (who was then deceased).

This deed of gift clearly shows that Cassandra was the widow of Henry Wood, who died before May 1700, and the mother of his three children. I estimate that she married Henry Wood circa 1692, then being aged about 30 years old, with her son John Wood being born circa 1694, her daughter Elizabeth Wood circa 1696, and her son Henry Wood circa 1698.

Her husband Henry Wood is estimated to have been born in the early 1660s. His father John Wood [Sr.] was exempted from paying levies on 10 June 1699,[13] which would indicate he was born circa 1639, since reaching age 60 was then cause to be excused from further taxation. Thus having children born in the 1660s is consistent with John Wood's age.

So Cassandra and Henry Wood were roughly of nearly the same age. So she would have been approaching age 40 when she married John Golding. Cassandra then would still have been of child-bearing age when she married John Golding about 1701/2 after Henry Wood's death, and thus able to bear at least one more child---William Golding, born circa 1703/4. Since she already had a son named John, this may explain why this last son was not named after his father, but named William instead, after John Golding's brother William Golding.

Since the Wood children were underage at the time of the 1704 Quit Rent Roll, the 199 acres that had been given to John Wood by his namesake grandfather in 1700 and which was then "in ye occupation of Casander Wood, widow and mother of ye sd John Wood" would most likely explain the 200 acres that their stepfather John Golding was assessed with in the 1704 Quit Rent Roll[14] if he had married the widow Cassandra Wood before 1704.

Her son John Wood would not have come of legal age to control the land on his own until about 1715, so John and Cassandra Golding probably continued to reside on this land until at least then and probably until John Wood married and started a family of his own. The Essex County Quit Rent Roll for 1715 indeed lists John Wood as having a 200 acre tract subject to the quit rent,[15] undoudtedly the same 200 acres that John Golding was charged against in 1704.

This may partly explain why there is no record of John Golding buying or selling any land until he received the 400 acre royal land grant in 1727 in what is now west central Caroline County.[16] However, there is no evidence he ever actually moved to Caroline County to seat this land as it lapsed four years later, and it appears that he continued to reside in Essex County. Of note is that this 400 acre land grant adjoined a 258 acre land patent that had been granted the same day to one Henry Wood, no doubt his stepson.

Also, the John Wood who witnessed, along with John and Cassandra Golding, the 99 year lease of 300 acres of land in what is now King George County from Place Powell to Augustine Smith on 11 November 1710[17] was without doubt Cassandra Golding's eldest son by Henry Wood.

But interestingly, this lease was not recorded in Essex County Court until 13 January 1714/15, perhaps being delayed in being recorded until one of the witnesses [i.e., John Wood] reached the age of 21 and could legally swear an oath. In addition to the above lease, John Golding petitioned the Essex Court on 21 June 1715 and was granted administration of the estate of Place Powell upon the latter's death.[18] What relationship John Golding or his wife Cassandra might have had with Place Powell is speculative, other than being near neighbors in Essex County.

Another deed of interest in Essex County is dated 7 January 1716/7[19] in which John Salmon [Jr.], son and heir of John Salmon [and grandson of the Thomas Powell who had died in 1700], sold to Charles Farrell a tract of 427 1/2 acres which had been patented jointly by his father John Salmon, and uncles Place Powell and William Powell on 2 May 1705. This tract bordered lands originally granted to Robert and Thomas Moss, Richard Goode, William Moseley, and Col. John Catlet. The land was inherited by John Salmon [Jr.] since his father was the last survivor of the three joint patentees. Significantly, among the witnesses to this deed were Daniel Tucker and Henry Wood, thus indicating they were still living in 1717 in close proximity to the land of Robert Moss and John Wood. If this Henry Wood was the youngest child of Cassandra Golding by her second husband Henry Wood, then he may have been a minor when he witnessed this deed. Alternatively, he could have been a son of Thomas Wood, a brother of Cassandra's husband Henry Wood.

What became of these three children of Cassandra by Henry Wood is not yet known and awaits further research. Further research also needs to be done to identify and follow up on the Cassandra Cooke who makes two appearances in the [Old] Rappahannock County Order Book under unfortunate circumstances. The first occurred on 3 March 1686/7 when the Rappahannock County Court ordered that "John Cooke, an infant son of Cassandra Cooke, serve Elias Robinson until the said John attaine the age of one & twenty years, being about two years old in January last past".[20]

At the next Rappahannock County Court held on 4 May 1687, the father of this bastard child of Cassandra Cooke was identified to the satisfaction of a majority of the Court justices with this entry "Whereas John Gatlin is vehemently presumed the Father of a bastard Child borne of the body of Cassandra Cooke which said Child hath for some time been menteyned [maintained] by the Parish of North Farnham, and Whereas it appeares that the said Gatlin was encouraged & protected by Colnll. [Colonel] Leroy Griffin from makeing restitution to the said Parish of such tobb. [tobacco] as were expended on the use aforesd, This Court have therefore ordered (Capt. Blomfield & Capt. Travers dissenting) that the sd John Gatlin & Colnll. Leroy Griffin equally pay &

satisfie the sd Parish all & every such sum & pounds of tobb. as shall appeare by the records of the said Parish have been imployed for menteynance of the sd Child".[21]

As previously noted, the given name Cassandra was an exceedingly uncommon one in colonial Virginia, with the above stated occurences involving Cassandra Wood/Golding along with this reference to a Cassandra Cooke being the only ones I have found in the [Old] Rappahannock County or Essex County records. I hesitate to equate the two for two reasons: 1) This Cassandra Cooke lived in North Farnham Parish of [Old] Rappahannock County which lay on the north shore of the Rappahannock River and not in close proximity to the Occupacia Creek area which lay in Sittingbourne Parish on the south side of the Rappahannock. As the Rappahannock River is several miles wide at this point, it was not easy for persons to intermingle between the two shores, and 2) if Cassandra Cooke should equate to the thrice married Cassandra Tucker Wood Golding, then this liaison with John Gatlin would have had to precede her marriage to Laomedon Tucker, which would put her marrying Tucker sometime after mid 1687 but before 1692 when she is believed to have married Henry Wood after Tucker's death. This leaves a very short period for a marriage to Laomedon Tucker.

However, not yet letting this possibility drop in uncovering the elusive identity of William Golding's mother, let me run through two scenarios to account for the possibility that Cassandra Cooke was perhaps one and the same as Cassandra Tucker Wood Golding.

Laomedon Tucker appears to have been married twice previously and was some 30 years older than his wife Cassandra. Since there is no record of his death in Rappahannock County probate records, there is a possibility that he might have left the area, met Cassandra Cooke, who after the public shame of bearing an illegitimate child in 17th Century society and facing ostracism by an intolerant populace and with few marriage prospects, may have settled for an older gentleman from outside the area who died shortly after their marriage beyond Rappahannock County, since no record of a will or any administration of his estate is of record there. His widow may have been subsequently taken in by Robert Moss and his wife Rebecca where she might have met Henry Wood.

Another possibility that appears more plausible is that her father may have moved his family across the Rappahannock River to Sittingbourne Parish and located in the Occupacia Creek area after his daughter's unfortunate notoriety with John Gatlin, where she may have met the widower Laomedon Tucker and ultimately her other two husbands who may or may not have been aware of her previous circumstances.

Indeed supporting this latter possibility is the presence of a John Cooke in the Occupacia Creek area, who significantly owned land which bordered the tract that David Jenkins and his wife Ann (widow of George Williams) sold to John Wood on 9 September 1696 and which was sold back to David and Ann Jenkins by John Wood and his wife Abigail on 21 September 1696 as previously cited and witnessed not only by Cassandra Wood, but also by this John Cooke, perhaps Cassandra Wood's father or brother. He was assessed against 112 and 150 acres respectively in Essex County in the 1704 and 1715 Quit Rent Rolls.[22]

Interestingly, both Laomedon and Cassandra are classical names in Greek mythology and epic poetry, the former being the father of Priam, the last king of Troy and the latter being the daughter of King Priam. According to Homer, Cassandra's beauty was so great that the god Apollo fell in love with her and gave her the power to foretell the future. But she would not love him in return, so Apollo angrily punished her by ordering that no one should ever believe her prophecies. Cassandra repeatedly warned her countrymen not to keep Helen of Troy captive or take the Trojan Horse inside the walls of Troy, but they paid no attention. So followed the destruction of Troy! Could William Golding's mother Cassandra likewise have had an unfortunate love which resulted in her misfortune? Further research is needed to run down this possibility and perhaps definitely identify her origins.

Whether John Golding was married prior to marrying the widow Cassandra Wood circa 1701/2 is presently unknown. He was probably in his late 30s when he married Cassandra and it would seem likely that he would have been married before.

If the tradition among some of the descendants in South Carolina of Anthony Foster [son of John and Isabel Foster and husband of Sarah Golding] that Anthony's mother was a Golding, then his mother Isabel might well have been a daughter of John Golding by a previous marriage, since Isabel is believed to have been born circa 1690. If she had grown up during her adolescense in the same household in Essex County with a younger half-brother William Golding, this might further explain how William Golding came to marry the younger sister of Isabel's husband John Foster, i.e., Elizabeth Foster, who had moved away to what was to become west central Caroline County with her mother and stepfather Robert Charlesworth circa 1720.

RESEARCH ON THE ANCESTRY OF WILLIAM GOLDING (C1704-C1782) OF ORANGE COUNTY, VIRGINIA AND NINETY SIX DISTRICT, SOUTH CAROLINA

New information has come to light which stongly suggests that the subject William Golding's mother Cassandra (maiden name yet unknown) had had two marriages (vice one) and at least three children born to her prior to her marriage to John Golding. Also a theory on the possible identity of Cassandra before her marriages is presented based at this time on very tenuous Information.

The name Cassandra was a very uncommon given name in colonial Virginia. So it appears as no coincidence that a woman named Cassandra, living near where Robert Moss had lived and in the immediate vicinity of the Button's Range land patent previously described in Essex County between Occupacia Creek and Gilson's Run, was married by the early 1690s to Henry Wood (son of John Wood) who lived in this area. That she was the same Cassandra who was the widow of Laomedon Tucker and who married subsequently John Golding is apparent by a close examination of the [Old] Rappahannock County and Essex County, Virginia records and neatly fills in the gap between 1710 when Cassandra Golding first appears in the records and 1685 when her apparent first husband Laomedon Tucker is last mentioned in the Essex records as a legatee in the last will of Robert Moss.

In his will, Robert Moss bequeathed "unto Laomedon Tucker or his two Children already borne (to wit) Daniell and Mary one mare fold [foal] of one yeare old to them & their heirs for Ever, & also two Earling [yearling] heifers to the said Daniell & Mary I give to be them & their increase in Common between them ye said Daniell & Mary for Ever".[1] These two children of Laomedon Tucker were born to a wife previous to Cassandra and who was probably a daughter of Robert and Rebecca (Jones) Moss, but who had died prior to her father's 1685 will. Robert Moss was approximately 66 years old in 1689 when he died and his last will was probated, as at a Court held on 5 March 1684/5 he had given his age as sixty two years old, thus being born about 1622.[2]

Laomedon Tucker was already remarried in 1685 or shortly to marry Cassandra, who, as a surviving widow of Laomedon Tucker, would have had an interest in the 100 acre tract that Robert and Rebecca Moss had given to Laomedon Tucker as a deed of gift on 3 September 1679 "for diverse good causes...as also for the love and affection wee beare unto Laomedon Tucker",[3] which 100 acre tract of land had then later been inherited by his son Daniel Tucker.

This clearly explains why Cassandra Golding, if the widow of Laomedon Tucker, would be required by law to relinquish her dower right (i.e., her right to 1/3 of this 100 acre tract previously owned by Laomedon Tucker) when her stepson Daniel Tucker and his wife Elizabeth sold the tract to Cornelius Sale in the deed dated 12 March 1711/2.[4]

This tract of land was described as "being in the Parish of Sittingburne on south side of Rappahannock River back in the woods on the SW branch of Occupacy Creek beginning at a marked red Oak the corner tree of the land of Robert Gaines, and runing thence along the line of the land of Thomas Parker for length, a certaine proportional quantity of perches according to the dimension of land above specified thence the next course into the land above specified, thence the next course into the land of Robert Moss according to proportion parrellel with the first course back againe, to the line of William Bates and finally along the said line to the first mentioned station".

I estimate that Cassandra was born about 1665 and was much younger than Laomedon Tucker, whose son Daniel appears to have been in his teens when his probable grandfather Robert Moss made his last will in 1685, based upon the language in Moss's will previously cited in which he allowed Daniel Tucker "the Use and benefitt of housing and ground to plant his Cropp on and his Diett from time to time & at all times as Long as the said Daniell shall Live". This provision may have been intended to allow Daniel Tucker to live on his grandfather Moss's land if he so desired rather than live with his father and a stepmother.

Of related interest is a royal land patent granted to Thomas Powell on 24 October 1650 for 500 acres on the north side of the Rappahannock River in what was then Lancaster County for the transport of 10 persons, among whom were "Leonnidon Tucker and wife".[5] This headright is I believe in fact the subject Laomedon Tucker and a first wife. If so, this would put Laomedon's birth circa 1625-30.

This Thomas Powell was father of the Thomas Powell who died leaving a will in Essex County in 1700 with wife Mary (Place) Powell and surviving sons Place Powell, Honorias Powell, Thomas Powell, and William Powell, and daughters Elizabeth Salmon [wife of John Salmon], Anne Coffey [wife of Edward Coffey], and Frances Powell.[6] The Thomas Powell who died in 1700 had bought land in Rappahannock (now Essex) County which was in the vicinity of the land of Robert Moss and adjoined a royal land patent of 29 acres granted to John Wood on 23 October 1690 which also was "nigh land of Button" [i.e. the Button's Range land patent of 3650 acres which was where Robert Foster bought land in Essex County in 1692].[7]

This John Wood had purchased an additional tract of 170 acres in then Rappahannock (now Essex) County from the brothers Robert Moss (wife Rebecca) and Thomas Moss (wife Elizabeth) on 11 July 1674[8] which was land that Robert and Thomas Moss had bought from Henry German and wife Dorothy on 3 November 1668 for 2,000 lbs. of tobacco which was described as "being in the Parish of Sittingbourne it being the one halfe or moiety of a parcell of land formerly purchased by me the said German of Daniel Gaines and according as the aforesaid moiety was formerly land butt unto Richard Good it being one hundred and seaventie acres more or less".[9]

This 170 acre tract, along with the adjoining 29 acre tract John Wood had patented in 1690, constituted the 199 acres that John Wood [Sr.] gave as a deed of gift [after the death of his son Henry Wood] to his grandson John Wood in 1700 and would pass in turn, if John should die without legal heirs, to Henry Wood's other children Henry and Elizabeth Wood, and if all of these should die without legal heirs, then to Henry's widow Cassandra during her lifetime, and then to Thomas Wood, son of the grantor.[10]

Cassandra was apparently not married very long to Laomedon Tucker before his death, since she would have had to have married Henry Wood sometime in the early 1690s to have had John and Elizabeth Wood born before 6 Oct 1697, when John Wood [Sr.] made his last will, which was probated on 10 April 1701. His will made bequests of a cow and calf to each of these two children of his still-then-living son Henry Wood.[11] Cassanda Wood made her mark as witness to a deed on 21 September 1696 in which her father-in-law John Wood and wife Abigail sold back to David Jenkins and wife Ann (the widow of George Williams) a 50 acre tract which had been bought by George Williams in 1684 and subsequently bequeathed by him to his wife in his will, and subsequently sold by Jenkins and his wife Ann to John Wood on 9 September 1696.[12]

Henry Wood [Jr.], the youngest child of Henry and Cassandra Wood, was probably not born before October 1697, since he is not mentioned in his grandfather's last will. But he is mentioned in the deed of gift dated 10 May 1700 in which John Wood [Sr.] gave the total of 199 acres in two adjoining tracts as noted above to his grandson John Wood, son of Henry Wood (who was then deceased).

This deed of gift clearly shows that Cassandra was the widow of Henry Wood, who died before May 1700, and the mother of his three children. I estimate that she married Henry Wood circa 1692, then being aged about 30 years old, with her son John Wood being born circa 1694, her daughter Elizabeth Wood circa 1696, and her son Henry Wood circa 1698.

Her husband Henry Wood is estimated to have been born in the early 1660s. His father John Wood [Sr.] was exempted from paying levies on 10 June 1699,[13] which would indicate he was born circa 1639, since reaching age 60 was then cause to be excused from further taxation. Thus having children born in the 1660s is consistent with John Wood's age.

So Cassandra and Henry Wood were roughly of nearly the same age. So she would have been approaching age 40 when she married John Golding. Cassandra then would still have been of child-bearing age when she married John Golding about 1701/2 after Henry Wood's death, and thus able to bear at least one more child---William Golding, born circa 1703/4. Since she already had a son named John, this may explain why this last son was not named after his father, but named William instead, after John Golding's brother William Golding.

Since the Wood children were underage at the time of the 1704 Quit Rent Roll, the 199 acres that had been given to John Wood by his namesake grandfather in 1700 and which was then "in ye occupation of Casander Wood, widow and mother of ye sd John Wood" would most likely explain the 200 acres that their stepfather John Golding was assessed with in the 1704 Quit Rent Roll[14] if he had married the widow Cassandra Wood before 1704.

Her son John Wood would not have come of legal age to control the land on his own until about 1715, so John and Cassandra Golding probably continued to reside on this land until at least then and probably until John Wood married and started a family of his own. The Essex County Quit Rent Roll for 1715 indeed lists John Wood as having a 200 acre tract subject to the quit rent,[15] undoudtedly the same 200 acres that John Golding was charged against in 1704.

This may partly explain why there is no record of John Golding buying or selling any land until he received the 400 acre royal land grant in 1727 in what is now west central Caroline County.[16] However, there is no evidence he ever actually moved to Caroline County to seat this land as it lapsed four years later, and it appears that he continued to reside in Essex County. Of note is that this 400 acre land grant adjoined a 258 acre land patent that had been granted the same day to one Henry Wood, no doubt his stepson.

Also, the John Wood who witnessed, along with John and Cassandra Golding, the 99 year lease of 300 acres of land in what is now King George County from Place Powell to Augustine Smith on 11 November 1710[17] was without doubt Cassandra Golding's eldest son by Henry Wood.

RICHARD FORSTER (1619 - 1681) (came to America on ship "Safety")married SUSANNAH (ANNE) GARNETT (1620/1621 - ?) in 1641/1642(daughter of Thomas Garnett (bef. 1594 - ?) and Elizabeth ? Garnett (bef. 1598 - ?)

As I have studied the Foster families of early colonial Virginia I have decided to pursue the possibility of the Richard Foster born in about 1693 who is born to Robert Foster and Elizabeth Garnett. He is born in Essex, Virginia. When his father Robert dies in 1715/16 at the age of 57 he leaves a will (see page 39 top left paragraph). The older three sons got the land. The fourth child Barbary Loveing, son-in-law, and grandson got 1 shilling, heifer & calf and released of debts owed to Robert. The fifth child, Richard (born about 1693, got his father's pistols, holsters and sword, a feather bed, bolster, cow and a heifer calf. Now, this is the Richard I am currently researching to see if there "may have been a reason" for his father Robert to give Richard his military guns and sword. Richard was age 22 at this time and old enough to be inclined towards the English military for the next few years or to be married in about 1721 to a neighboring girl by the last name of "Ransome". The will also gave him a feather bed, bolster and a cow and heifer. This is a very necessary gift to set up your own housekeeping as a young married. It is also possible for Richard to have left home about this time and go to England with his wife "Miss Ransome". In my notes I refer too her as Elizabeth Ransome but that is simply a guess on my part. In Whitchurch (White Church), Hampshire, England she gives birth in 1723 to a son and calls him Richard Foster. This is my for sure Richard Foster.

It has been accepted by most Foster researchers that Robert Foster, son of Richard and Sussan Garnett Foster married an Elizabeth Garnett. In his will of 1715/16 he names his wife, Elizabeth (no family name) and even though he wills the plantation on which he lives, to his first son, Robert Foster, Jr., he provides for Elizabeth, Robert Jr's mother, to remain on the plantation. Thomas, Sr. another son of Robert Foster acknowledges that the Elizabeth in the will was his mother. He gave his mother, who was now married to Robert Charlesworth and living on his land, a gift of deed to the land on which they were then living. In the deed he states that Elizabeth was his mother. I mention this as there are so many researchers still using the wife (Sara Biggs) given Robert Foster, Sr. by Mrs. Lane in her research. I have found no documentation that he married a Sarah Biggs, or even Elizabeth Garnett. However, he had a better chance of marrying a Garnett in Gloucester County than in Lower Norfolk County. There were Biggs in Gloucester County at the same time as there were Garnetts. Read the will of Robert Foster, Sr. carefully - it is most difficult.

The Garnetts of Virginia do not recognize Thomas Garnett as their ancestor or even a close relation. They state, "The earliest Garnett from whom descent at this time can be traced is John Garnett to whom under date of April 16, 1673 the governor, Thomas Lord Culpeper, issued a grant of 260 acres of land lying on the south side of Garden Creek in Gloucester County, between lands of John Smither and John Diggs."
SOURCE: Gloucester County Record Book 7, p. 239

John Garnett had two sons that lived to maturity, John, Jr. and Thomas. Anthony died while still young.

John Garnett, Jr. the eldest son of John Garnett, Sr. lived in Kingston Parish, Gloucester County, Virginia. Shortly after the birth of his first son, James in 1692, he moved to St. Anne's Parish, in Essex County, where we find his name as a witness to deeds in 1703 and 1710. The land that he bought was a part of Button's Range and was adjacent to the 200 acres each bought by Robert and John Foster, brothers. Button's Range was subdivided in 1789. John Garnett and the Foster brothers bought their land in 1692 (some say that John Foster bought his in 1709 and is not even a brother.)

We now have the sons of Richard Foster, the sons of John Garnett, and the son of Robert Coleman, Sr. all moving to Essex County, Virginia at about the same time, 1692. For two generations the Foster, Garnetts, and Colemans had been close friends. June 8, 1709: "Bond of Thomas Garnett of St. Anne's Parish, Essex County, to John Foster of same, planter. Bequeathed 5,000 pounds of tobacco to his two daughters, Sarah and Rose Tucker. Also bequeathed 5,000 pounds of tobacco to "the child my wife now growes" if it be a girl. If it is a boy, the plantation is to be equally divided between the two boys. His "loving wife Rose" is the executrix, and shall have the plantation as long as she lives.

Letters of William Fitzhugh. Publication of the letters written by Fitzhugh with many footnotes of explanation. A footnote about John Newton who married Rose Tucker, Gerard, tells about John "John Newton (1639-1697)third husband of WF's mother-in-law, Rose Tucker GerardNewton was a native of Yorkshire who had first settled in Maryland. He is earlier styled "Master Mariner." He came to Westmoreland Co. VA and married Rose some time before 1677 when his fourt son Gerrard was born. His will dated August 19, 1695, proven July 28, 1697 requests that his "loving friend, Col. William Fitzhugh, " advise and assist his executors and in case of differences settle matters between them. His eldest son by a former marriage, John Junior, married a daughter of Isaac Allerton whose son Willoughby was to marry IWilliam Fitzhugh's only daighter IRose 35 .) John Newton, according to the above footnotes had been married prior to his marriage to Rose Newton. John Newton, Jr. was born from that marriage. John Jr. married the daugher of Allerton and they had a son, Willoughby who was to marry Rose Fitzhugh. This is further explanation of the above finding.

Title: The very large Tucker family is one of
The very large Tucker family is one of the better doocumenterd families in the annals of America. Much of this information on the early Tuckers came about due to the work of DeRoy Beale and a large group of dedicated researchers. The information after 1800 is very well documented for the descendants of Capt. Robert Tucker as his grandson Robert Tucker had eight children and seven of them married the children of the neighbors, the Glenns. Abigail Glenn was the mother of those children was supposedly 1/21/2 Choctaw Indian and the families of thses Tucker /Glenn marriages became embrioled in a 20 year court battle with the Choctaw Indian tribe and US Gov'T over the ir desire to be accepted as tribal members. A cousin found and copied over 800pages of 8 1/2 by 11 siza testimony of these people in which they gave the names of various memnbers of this family including my husband's grandparents and the way in which they were related to each other and to Robert and mary Tucker and John and Abigail Glenn They told of the way many of the family took in their travel to get to the Indian Nation The family left South Carolina before the trial of tears and moved on their own, spreading out from Missouri to Mississippi , Georgia Alabama Tennesse and Arkansas before reaching the Indian Nation .

I also found a bit on page 122 of Norma's book (in a footnote) that reads:

"LAOMEDON TUCKER was a headright of THOMAS POWELL who patented 500 acres on the Rappahannock on 24 October 1650. On 12 March 1711/12, DANIEL TUCKER of St. Anns Parish, Essex Co., deeded to CORNELIUS SALE, land formerly conveyed by deed of gift in 1679 from Robert and Rebecca MOSS to LAOMEDON TUCKER or to his two children, Daniel and Mary TUCKER. LAOMEDON devised the land to Daniel TUCKER, whose wife, Elizabeth, relinquished her dower. In 1682, MARY TUCKER, daughter of LEONIDER, received a mare from Daniel TUCKER. The mare had been a gift from Arthur ONBEY. One Dorothy TUCKER, daughter of Daniel, married (1) Capt. Bryan STITH of New Kent; married (2) Hugh Owen, a lawyer."

Thanks so much for these. That cow hardly got used to a pasture before getting passion to someone new. 🐮 😂 I really do think there is another older Daniel involved here. I've been running errands all morning and have something for Dames that I have to do. After that I'll get back to my Tucker notebook. Melanie

Subject: William Sale-the immigrant. Location of his original 73 1/2 acres.
Author: CalSale
Date: Tuesday, 14 June 2011
Classification: Query
Surnames: Sale, Brooke, Mayfield, Jones, Parker, Farmer

I have been doing research on the location of William Sale's deed of 73 1/2 acres, along with several other deeds related to the Sale, Jones, Farmer, Parker, Brooke and Mayfield families. I now believe that I have found the location of the land that Thomas Parker essentially gave William Sale in 1681 in old Rappahannock County, Virginia; now Essex County.

First, let me state that the original deed of 73 1/2 acres was wrong. It in fact was for 60 acres. I have recalculated this acreage several times. There is indeed about a 13 1/2 acre mistake in this deed. The property forms a polygon and the irregular shape makes it diffucult to calculate the area. The property had to be divided into right triangles to determine acreage. The surveyor who calculated the acreage failed to divide by two after multipling the length and width of one of these triangles.

Oddly enough, William Sale's land encompassed the area around where old St. Matthews church is located at Champlain, Virginia. In my opinion, it should have been called, Sale or Sale's Church, Virginia, but that's just my opinion. This fork in the road had been known as the, "fork at..." or "road to..." Sale's Church from 1731 until at least the 1860's. It only became known as Champlain, Virginia when a post office was established there in 1893. Anyway, here is how I found the solution to the location of this deed.

In 1673, Thomas Parker was granted 73 1/2 acres, (actually 60 acres), of land as follows:

"To all to whom these present shall come, I Sr Wm Berkley, Knt. Governor & c. Now know yee & c. that I the sd: Sr Wm Berkley doe with the consent of Counsell of State accordingly give & grant unto Tho: Parker seaventy three Acres of Land and a 1/2 situate and being in the County of Rappa: on South side the River in the pish of Sittingbourne back in the woods. Beginning at a marked red Oake the Corner tree of Robert Gaines Land extendeth thence by the same N.W. 90 pole to a red oak by ye side of a branch thence N.N.E. 40 po: to the Land of Wm. Moseley. Thence by the sd Moseleys line E: by S. 192 po: to a red oak neare to a path in the head of vally Thence S.W. 122 po: and finally W by S 40 pole to the first mentioned Station the sd Land being doe unto the sd Parker by and for the Transportation of two persons into this Colony whose names are in the records mentioned underneath this patent. To have and to hold yeilding and paying to or sd Soveraigne Lord the King & c. Given under my hand and Seale of the Collony this 5th of Novr: 1673..."

The "branch side" the deed refers to turns out to be called today, Hunters Mill creek. The deed was recorded on the same day as his gift to William Sale, the 23rd day of January, 1681/82

In 1677, Robert Mayfield bought 105 acres of land from Daniel and Robert Gaines (Games) which states:

"BEE IT KNOWN unto all men by these presents that wee Daniel Gaines & Robert Gaines of ye County of Rappae: in consideration of two thousand pounds of tobacco & Cask to us in hand paid, doe sell unto Robert Mayfield of ye same County his heires & assignes forever a Certaine Devident of land containing about One hundred & five acres by estimation being on ye South side of Rappae: River in ye County abovesd in ye Parish of Sittingbourne back on ye Woods on ye South most side Branch of Occupacie creek beginning at a marked red Oak corner tree of Thomas Parker's land & running N.W. along ye land of ye sd Parker to Pokikery (Hickery) on a branch side from thence by a South course to a marked tree on ye land of Robert Moss thence along ye sd land of Robt. Moss to another corner tree, thence still along ye sd Moss his land towards ye S:E: a corner tree, thence by a North East Course along ye land of William Bates to ye place where it first began wee ye abovesd Danial Gaines & Robt. In Testimony herunto sett to or: hands & seales this 5th day &ber in ye year of or: Lord 1677."

Again, the N.E. boundry corner by a "branch side" with Thomas Parker's land is Hunters Mill creek.

In 1681, Thomas Parker gives his 73 1/2, nigh 60 acres, to William Sale, "...for valuable consideration already received." Parker reserves ingress and egress for a cemetery plot where his daughter is buried.

Later, in 1727, Abraham Mayfield, son of Robert Mayfield sells 125 acres of land, (this acreage may be a mistake, or there may be additional land included), to Robert Brooke, Jr., bounded by Cornelius Sale, Thomas Jones and Col. Joseph Smith. Smith's land was on the South of Mayfield's land. Thomas Jones land was located on the north and west sides, meaning Cornelius Sale's land was on the east side of Mayfield's property. Cornelius having inheirited this land from his father, William Sale. Then, in 1731, Robert Brooke, Jr., sells the Mayfield land to Cornelius Sale reserving two acres for the church which would be known either as, "Saile's Church," or "Sale's Church".

This pretty well establishes that Wiliam Sale's land was located next to Robert Mayfield's land and that Cornelius Sale eventually owned both properties. Now, as to how I came about finding the location of these properties; it gets more complicated.

Some years ago I was made aware of a plat map of Farmers Hall that has long been claimed to be the land of the Sale family. It was actually, and some would argue more famously, at one time, the land of Robert Brooke, Jr., surveyor and a member of the "Knights of the Golden Horseshoe." However, Thomas Sale, who married Molly Brooke, daughter of Robert, did inherit 247 acres of the land after Robert Brooke, Jr's., death.

This plat map dates to 1817. A gentleman named Henry Garnett, bought Farmers Hall in 1791. Garnett died in 1811. His probate case is dated and listed as, "1823-030, James H. Noel vs Henry Garnett's exec. & Robert Garnett." There is also another reference to the plat map in the Fredericksburg Court records listed as, "Noel & c vs Matthews, exor of Henry Garnett, 1820/CR-SC-H/205-2." It is this record that identifies the plat map as being drawn in 1817.

Farmers Hall, as it was called when Henry Garnett died, was not the dwelling house that Robert Brooke, Jr., lived in during his lifetime. Farmers Hall, as the 1817 plat map shows, was located on the west side of the property, where Robert Brooke, Jr's, house was on the east side. There is also no evidence that Robert Brooke, Jr., ever called his plantation Farmers Hall. This was a name given to the property by either Robert Brooke III, or his son, Edmund Brooke. The oldest known reference to the name Farmers Hall dates to 1782 in a letter written by Edmund Brooke to Col. William Davies.

Robert Brooke's "dwelling plantation" or "dwelling house," as it was most often referred to, was located at the fork of what today is called Farmers Hall creek and Chesituxent swamp. Farmers Hall creek has been referred to by many names, Mosses branch, Little Occupacia creek and the S.W. branch of Occupacia creek. Chesituxent swamp was in fact, historically, the main S.W. branch of Occupacia creek, part of which today is called Farmers Hall creek. Today, the remaining portion of Chesituxent swamp is unnamed on topographic maps. Chesituxent is an Algonquian name whose meaning has been lost to history.

Two deeds refer to the fork of what was then Mosses branch and Chesituxent creek as being where Robert Brooke, Jr's, dwelling house stood. The first, from June 11, 1717, between William Moss and Robert Jones. The second, from March 16th, 1723, between Richard Moss and Robert Jones. Oddly enough, both of these deeds involve the same property. These two deeds establish that this is where Robert Brooke was living between 1717; and most likely, 1744, when he died. Now, put that together with the plat map from 1817, which also shows a graveyard next to the "Old House." This must be the location of Robert Brooke, Jr's, house; and likely, the graveyard where he is buried. This fork at Mosses Branch and Chesituxent creek then establishes our starting point to locate the land of William and Cornelius Sale.

The deed dated June 11, 1717, from William Moss to Robert Jones states in part:

"William Moss of St. Ann's Parish, Essex County, Robert Jones of same. For 30 pounds sterling...386 acres... plantation and land were Martha Moss, widow, now dwells...forke of a swamp near Mr. Robert Brooke's dwelling house where he now dwells, known by the name of Mosses Swamp...til it comes to Chestnut Swamp...land of William Jones, unto land sold by William Mosses father unto Thomas Farmer...land formerly given by Robert Moss, father of said William unto Tucker and now in the possession of Cornelius Sale of this county of Essex...unto the land of Joshua Stapp formerly purchased by his father (Abraham Stapp) of Edward Moseley..."

This establishes that Chestnut swamp is the first branch south of Chesituxent swamp. Today, Chestnut swamp is called Rouzie swamp on topo maps and at the branch of Mosses swamp and Chestnut swamp is where William Jones' land began. Also, the deed from May 13th, 1729, between Robert Stokes and Salvator Muscoe establishes that the bridge over Mosses branch and the main road was called, William Jones bridge. It also establishes that the location of the S.W. corner of William Jones land and the modern day bridge on Highway 17 (Tidewater Trail) over Farmers Hall creek, is adjacent to where William Jones bridge was originally located. The original road and bridge having been slightly northeast of the current bridge.

William Jones, in 1704, is charged with 465 acres of land and in 1715, with 415 for a net loss of 50 acres sold during this time period. If we look at the Essex County assessors map, section 19, tax parcels 65, 65a, and the combined smaller portion of parcel 42; it adds up to 115 acres. Then, if we look at tax parcels 64 and 66, they add up to 250 acres. The other 50 acres from the 1715 quit rent rolls is as yet unaccounted for...

Next to William Jones' land is the fifty acres of land that Thomas Farmer bought from Robert Moss and Mary, his wife, on June 9th, 1704. This land Farmer sold to George Loyd on June 9th 1710. George Loyd died between Dec. 19, 1713, when his will was written and 14 January 1713/14; when his will was probated. Loyd left the land to, "daughter-in-law," Mary Diskin (actually his step daughter.) Mary, married Francis Padget, who then sold the land to Cornelius Sale on June 17, 1718.

The deed from Robert Moss to Thomas Farmer reads in part:

"Robert Moss and Mary his wife of Sittenbourne parish sell Thos Farmer of Essex, for 2000 lb tobo, 50 acres on Occupation Creek in Sittenbourne par. Beginning at a corner tree of Nicholas Willard & Robert Moss, thence down the main Swamp to ye land of William Jones, thence along the land of the said Jones to a branch called Jones Spring branch, thence along ye Said branch to a marked Hiccory thence along the(words missing)to a marked Hiccory Standing on the head of a branch yt comes out of a branch called by the name of ye Chestnut branch, thence along to a marked red oak that stands in the said Willard's & Mosses line thence along the sd Line to the first mentioned Station..."

This is further shown by the deed between Richard Moss of Westmoreland County and Robert Jones. Richard Moss was evidently the son of Robert Moss and brother of William Moss. Apparently, Richard Moss had made a claim on the 386, nigh 400 acres, that William Moss sold to Robert Jones in 1717. So on March 18, 1723, Richard Moss sold his interest in the same property to Robert Jones.

This deed states:

"This INDENTURE made the Sixteenth day of March 1723 Between Richard Moss of the County of Westmoreland in (the) Colony of Virginia of one part & Robert Jones of the County of Essex in the County aforesd. Witnesseth that said Richard Moss for (the) sum of Fifteen hundred pounds of Tobacco to him paid hath granted unto said Robert Jones his heirs all that plantation & tract of land whereon Andrew Pritchet now lives in (the) parish of St. Anne in aforesd County of Essex & containing four hundred acres bounded Beginning at ye fork of a Swamp comeing out of Little Occupacia Creek oposet to Capt. Robert Brooks Dwelling house where he now lives. Thence up the South branch thereof to the land of William Jones. Thence along the several courses of said William Jones his land until it comes to the land of Cornelius Sale which he purchased of Francis Paget. Thence along several courses of the sd Sale's land to the land of Robert Brooke wch: was lately Abraham Stepps. Thence along the several courses of said land to a Swamp and so down the sd Swamp to the beginning..."

Note, that by comparing the two deeds of William Moss and Richard Moss it establishes that Thomas Farmer's land became Francis Padget's land and that Padget sold the land to Cornelius Sale.

Farmer's land was divided from William Jones' land by William Jones spring branch. Today, this branch still exists, but has meandered through the centuries as topo maps from the early 1900's show; when compared to the modern tax assessors maps. These assessors maps also do not show the next branch along Chestnut swamp which forms; in part, the N.W. side of Thomas Farmer's property. However, it does appear on old topo maps from the early 1900's. This branch may have filled in naturally over the years or been filled in by modern development. This N.W. boundry of Thomas Farmer's land splits tax parcel 42 in half, which was at one time, in part, an 80 acre parcel owned by another Sale family member, William Eugene Sale, son of Benjamin Leonard Sale and Mary Susan Wright, until 1912. This N.W. boundry of Farmer's land forms the S.E. boundry to the land that Leomidon Tucker, father of Daniel Tucker, who bought, or was given, this land by Robert and Rebecca Moss on September 3rd, 1679. As a side note, you can see from the previous deed from Robert Moss to Thomas Farmer that Robert Moss had two wives-Rebecca and Mary.

The description of the deed between Robert Moss and Leomidon Tucker is as follows:

"KNOW ALL MEN by these present that I Robert Moss of the County of Rappae: Planter, together with the consent of Rebecca my beloved Wife, for diverse good causes me thereunto mooving, as alsoe for the love and affection wee beare unto Leomidon Tucker of the abovesaid County, doe for us freely give and make over unto the said Leomidon Tucker his heires and assignes forever One hundred acres of land being in the Parish of Sittingbourne (later St. Anne's) in the County aforesaid on the South side of the Rappae: River back in the woods on the SW branch of Occupacy Creek beginning at a marked red Oak on the corner tree of the land of Robt. Gaines, and runing thence along the line of the land of Thomas Parker for length, a certaine proportional quantity of perches (poles) according to the dimension of the land above specified thence the next Course into the land above specified, thence the next Course into the land of Robert Moss according to proportion parallell with the first course back againe; to the line of the land of William Bates and finally along the said line to the first mentioned station, we the Robert and Rebecca Moss..."

You can see from the deed between Robert Moss and Leomidon Tucker that the N.W. boundry line of Tucker's land was the S.E. boundry of Thomas Parker's land. The same land that Thomas Parker deeded over to William Sale in 1681.

The clue that this was William Sale's land was the triangular parcel of land that makes up tax parcels 33, 33a, 33b, and 33c. These were at one time one parcel that was owned by a Lillian May Sale, daughter of Benjamin Leonard Sale and Mary Susan Wright; until 1924, when it was sold out of the family. It should be noted; however, that this land had previously been sold out of the family by Thomas Sale, son of Cornelius, and Thomas' wife, Molly Brooke-Sale, in 1788, but had been reaquired, through an inheritance, by brothers, Dandridge Sale and Leonard Pitts Sale in the 1850's after the death of their uncle, Blevin Pitts, who owned Farmers Hall at that time, and which included the land where St. Matthews Church is located. The land was then inherited, in part, by Dandridge Sale's son, Benjamin Leonard Sale and his children. It should also be noted that when Thomas Sale sold this land to Capt. Muscoe Livingston the boundries were somewhat different from those that were given in the original grant given to Thomas Parker, and included some additional land.

This land included the N.E. corner of the St. Matthew's church property. The eastern point of this property formed the eastern point or corner of William Sale's land where his land turns S.W. for 122 poles and then W by S for 40 poles to the corner of Robert Gaines, which was later William Sale's corner with Robert Mayfield.

It is also important to note here that in 1788, Thomas Sale and wife, Molly Brooke-Sale, sold the land that his father, Cornelius, had bought from Tucker and Padget; to Meriday Brown.

So, for those of you who live in the Tidewater Virginia area, as you travel up and down Highway 17, the Tidewater Trail, passing by old St. Matthew's Church. Be mindful that you are passing over the land where the Sale family began in this country; and probably, where many of our Sale ancestors lie buried. R.I.P.

Isabella (or Isabell) was born either in 1690 (unlikely), 1695 (probable) 1699 or 1700, probably in Essex Co. VA. She was the daughter of John Golding (c1670 in Gloucester Co. VA - 1734 in Essex Co. VA) and Cassandra Tucker (c1670 - after 1715 in Essex Co.), who married around 1691 (or perhaps 1695) and lived in the western part of Essex county (probably St. Mary's Parish). They also had a son, William, who was my ancestor.

In 1704, the rent-roll of Virginia listed John and his brother William, under "Goulding", as planters in Essex Co. In 1714 or 1715, John and "Casandrey" Golding witnessed a deed of lease for a planter, Place Powell. Both signed with a mark, meaning they did not know how to write. On 28 September 1731, the courts granted John Golding, effective 16 June 1727, 400 acres in St. Margaret's Parish, King William Co. belonging to Roger Quarles of Caroline Co., on the condition that he pay 40 shillings in seating and other expenses. Roger's lease had lapsed.

John was the son of John Golding , who was born in 1640 in England and immigrated sometime before 1668 to Gloucester Co. VA, where he died. He married an unknown Ripley in Gloucester Co. in 1668.

The Goldings and Fosters were very close, since William married Elizabeth Foster, John Foster's sister. In addition, Isabell and John Foster's son, Anthony Foster, would marry his first cousin Sarah Golding, daughter of William and Elizabeth. It was a small world in those English settlements.

Hope this helps

Gordon

Have not spent as much time on this as most of you, my trail leads back from Perry CHANCE and wife Alpha Jane TUCKER b. 1835, dau of Samuel TUCKER and Mary SELLS. To which I find -- PERRY, COLE, GABB/GIBB/GIBBS?, DENTON, GOLDING, LANE/LAIN - plus SHAPLES(S), HOWARD and MOSS to name a few.

From WFT 14 tree 2228
Robert Moss son of Edward Moss and Ann Belt (?Beltchourton)

Suspect Robert Moss b. abt 1635 and Rebecca Wales - parents of (Elizabeth or Frances) Moss d. bef 1865, wife of Laomedon Tucker

Laomedon Tucker and (Elizabeth or Frances) Moss - had two children
Daniel Tucker b. Bef. 1685
Mary ~~Cassandra~~ Tucker - Golding b. Bef. 1685 - mentioned in Grandfather, Robert Moss' Will - (to wit) not positive of child(s) name.

As left in Grandfather Robert Moss' Will -- "Laomedon Tucker or his two children already born (to wit), Daniell and Mary."
Heirs would have to relinquish their right of dower of and to the land. - In order for land to be transferred/sold to another party.
As married, wife of Grandson Daniel, Elizabeth Tucker and ~~Granddaughter~~ - Cassandra Tucker Golding (mother of Daniel) had to relinquish their share(s).

ref. WFT 14 tree 0674 - John Golding and wife Cassandra

Based on a deed I just copied out of an Essex Co Book that has transcriptions of those records, I would guess that Cassandra Goulding had previously been married to a Laomedon Tucker.
12 Mar 1711 Daniel Tucker to Cornelius Sale, 100 acres on the southwest bank of Occupation Creek, adjoining the land of Robert Gaines, Thomas Parker, Robert Moss and William Bates. This land was passed as a deed of gift from Robert and Rebecca Moss to Laomedon Tucker and from him devised to Daniel and his wife Elizabeth. Cassandra Goulding and Elizabeth, wife of Daniel, reliquish their rights of dower.
For them both to have rights of dower, they both had to have been married to owners of the land. Maybe Cassandra was Daniel's mother?

This John b. 1670 who married Cassandra Hopkins abt 1691 in Orange Cty, Va/Essex Cty, VA, is my line, through their son, William and William's son, Anthony and Isabella Reid Golding.
CORRECTION - SEE BELOW

Please excuse the above error. Cassandra HOPKINS b. 1691 was the STEP-MOTHER of Cassandra Tucker. It was Cassandra TUCKER who married John Golding, Jr. I will try to explain better.
Cassandra HOPKINS was the daughter of Thomas Hopkins.
She married 1) Leomedon TUCKER about 1690. Leomedon Tucker had already been married and had children when he married Cassandra HOPKINS. [Leomedon's first marriage was to Elizabeth Frances Moss who died after having Daniel, Mary and Cassandra Tucker.] As far as I know, Cassandra TUCKER was the only wife of John Golding, Jr. b. 1670 in VA. As far as I know, they only had 2 children: Isabella b. 1695 and William M. Golding, Sr. b. 1704.
Isabella Golding m.John Foster, Sr.
William M. Golding, Sr. m. Elizabeth Foster, sister of Isabella's husband John Foster, Sr.

Tucker, Leomedon
m1) Frances Elizabeth Moss
- Daniel Tucker b. bef 1685 m. Elizabeth Wood
- Mary Tucker
- Cassandra TUCKER b. bef 1685 (mentioned in the LWT of her grandfather, Robert Moss. This is the Cassandra who married John Golding, Jr., NOT her step-mother Cassandra Hopkins

Not mentioned

Leomedon Tucker
m2) Cassandra HOPKINS [dau of Thomas Hopkins and unknown wife who after the death of Thomas c 1659 married James Matthews] who first married Henry Wood and had the following children:
-John Wood
-Henry Wood
-Elizabeth Wood who married Daniel Tucker (above)

Children of Thomas Hopkins and uk wife:
Cassandra Hopkins
Eliza Hopkins
William Hopkins
Mary Hopkins

So, Isabella Golding b.1695 and William Golding, Sr. b. 1704 were the children of a Cassandra, but Cassandra TUCKER, and John Golding, Jr. not Cassandra Hopkins Wood who married Leomedon Tucker.

I have also found where a Cassandra Tucker married abt 1770 in Fredrick Cty, Maryland to a James Smith and had William Smith, Margaret, Delila who m. Isaac Edwards, and Samuel. (Norma Frank said she had the marriage certificate.] Do you know if this was her second husband? [John Golding, Jr. died June 4, 1747 Orange Cty, Va.]

I've been going through all my information trying to get this straight since I am also a descendant of William through his son Anthony Golding b. 1746 and Isabella Reid (his second wife.)

Is this the way you have this Shelli? I would appreciate hearing from you and any help you or others can provide. Thank you.

The reader will note that there are two books covering the period 1677-82; one of wills containing 90 pages--one of Court Order, Deeds,--etc, containing 376 pages. The former is cited as "W 1677-82" without further designation. The other book is simply cited as "1677-82" and the paging of this 1677-82 book is the new paging at the top of the page, since many, if not in all instances, the original paging of this book is not indicated.

This book, 1677-82, of 367 pages in point of time begins at page 119, as of June 22, 1677, Edmond Crank being the Clerk, and continues through page 376, as of January 25, 1682, the original paging being 1-84. The modern or upper corner paging at page 1 begins September 6, 1682, running through page 118 (upper corner) ending with March 2, 1686-7, William Colton, Clerk showing original paging from 1 to 90.

In Book 1656-64, page 112 is the following memorandum:

"Note on original book. Here begins the old record book #B."

Book 1656-64 shows that in the original book, pages 20-27 inclusive were in bad condition and could not be intelligently copied, though whatever names were legible were copied, and have been indexed.

PAGINATION

The marginal paging of the books has been followed and not the conventional paging at the top of the pages, thus endeavoring to follow the original paging. See an exception, however, under "Records and Books" above.

In all cases the page assigned to a name appearing in the index is the page on which is recorded the beginning of the instrument in which the name occurs while the name itself may be on the following page or pages.

It is suggested that the Searcher read the entire instrument.

PREVIOUS COPYING

Some of the books at least at Tappahannock, of which copies are at Richmond, are themselves copies of originals. See the certificate of William Beverly, Clerk, Book 1664-73, page 56, and a full certificate of the same Clerk at page 101 in this Book of 1664-73.

Wills of Rappahannock County, Virginia 1656-1692

years after the disastrous Indian massacre of the James River plantations in 1622, which almost destroyed Virginia; and twenty-four years after the establishment of the eight shires on the James and York rivers. What a wilderness, and how remote, when traveling was so difficult, from the center of social, business and political life at Jamestown. Rich and poor, educated and uneducated are represented in these wills. To those students who wish to construct a picture of the early life of Virginia, these wills will prove most acceptable and helpful. To mention only a few subjects, here will be found information on the extent and boundaries of early patents, the comfortable household equipment of a few of the inhabitants, the scanty equipment of others, the provision for widows and children, the maintenance of servants and slaves, the education of the children, the value of crops, the early deaths, the care of the sick, the family quarrels, the names of early estates, the names of merchants, the references to books, the importance of live stock, especially cows; truly a wide variety of subjects touching the early life of a newly settled community. Through it all there are glimpses of the arduous struggle to make a living; the standard of life, even among the more prosperous, was, necessarily, of unmistakable simplicity.

Some into whose hands this book may fall, will see only a few dates and names; others will find much more, just as much as they bring to it.

Fortunately Mrs. Sweeny was closely associated with her husband in his historical researches; to her for the faithful attention to his transcripts and notes, and for her careful supervision in seeing the work through the press, the students of Virginia Colonial life are deeply indebted. May this publication inspire others to undertake the compilation of similar volumes for all of the Tidewater counties.

Foreword

"Old" Rappahannock County is not to be confused with the present county of Rappahannock. "Old" Rappahannock was formed from Lancaster by act of the Virginia Assembly, December 11, 1656, and included territory on both sides of Rappahannock River, deriving its name, as did the river, from "the Indian tribe of the Powhatan Confederacy, . . . the people of the alternating (ebb and flow) stream." Lancaster had been formed in 1651 from Northumberland and York counties, which themselves had become entities only a half-dozen or more years prior to 1651. Northumberland was the name given the Indian district Chickacoan in February, 1645, and Charles River, one of the original shires, was changed to York county in 1642/3.

Thirty-six years—the period covered by this study—was the life-span of "Old" Rappahannock, for it became extinct in 1692, when its territory north of the Rappahannock River was erected into the county of Richmond and its territory south of the river was erected into the county of Essex.*

Coinciding in area with the political division of "Old" Rappahannock County was the church territory of Farnham parish, established in 1654. This parish was formed from a parish in Lancaster County, whose name, while not certainly known, is thought to have been Lancaster. In 1664 or earlier, Farnham parish was divided, and the new parish Sittingbourne included territory on both sides of the Rappahannock River. In or before 1683, Farnham was again divided, into North Farnham and South Farnham, the Rappahannock River being the dividing line.

Rules Useful in Interpretation of the Wills

Rules to be followed deal chiefly with (1) relationship of one individual to another and (2) chronology.

Relationship

Relationship as denoted in the seventeenth century proves puzzling today. For example, apparently the custom was to apply the term "cousin" to nieces and nephews as well as to actual cousins. "Father" referred to "father-in-law" as used today, when followed by the name of the person mentioned. Otherwise, "father" meant the parent himself. Of special note is that "father-in-law," "mother-in-law," etc., most frequently referred to step-father, step-mother, etc. "Junior" might refer to a nephew as well as a son as long as the older relative of the

The dates for Thomas Eston Randolph are given on the authority of his grand daughter, Harriet Parkhill Randolph, who also lists a son called Isham, but unless this name is one later applied to one of the sons shown on this list there was no son Isham. There is no place where another child could be interpolated in the foregoing list of twelve children, and twenty two years of child bearing would seem to be the limit for the mother. No record was found of any other children up to the date of the death of the father.

PICKETT FAMILY OF VIRGINIA

Without attempting at this time a consecutive account of the early generations of the Pickett family, for research up to this present time has not afforded sufficient data for that purpose, we would present here certain significant items from record sources as named. We hope that the publication of these items will encourage further research into the origins of this family, finally supplying sufficient data from which to construct an authentic account of its earlier generations in Virginia.

The earliest reference we have so far found to a member of the Pickett family appears in The Vestry Book of Christ Church Parish, Middlesex County (edited by C. G. Chamberlayne), page 4:

> "At a Vestry held September 26, 1665, 'It was Ordered That Henry Pickett have Foure Hundred pounds of Tobacco paid him to Cure a Scald head of a Childe now in his Keeping, of William Baldwin's Dec'd and that ye next Vestry the Said Childe being Cast on the P'rish be bound to ye Said Pickett according to Law'."[1]

The Register of Christ Church Parish, Middlesex County, (published 1897) page 63, enters:

> "Henry Finley & Mary Picket were married Jan ye 8th. 1703."

The Middlesex County records have not been examined for Pickett data, however their examination would probably add information regarding Henry Pickett's transactions in that county.

The following items clearly show that the Picketts moved from Middlesex County to that part of old Rappahannock which became Essex County in 1692.

On December 6, 1673, Robert Armstrong and Dorothy, his wife, conveyed to Henry Pickett, of Middlesex County, cooper, 100 acres in Rappahannock County, in Piscatawa Creek and adjoining the Church road and the lands of William Johnson, John Whitt, and Mr. Pettey (old Rappahannock records, vol. 1671-b, page 178). Oct. 20, 1678 Henry (H, his mark) Picket witnessed a deed from Thornton to Waters, and in a list of debts in account of Col. William Travers, decd., estate, under date of 7ber 13, 1680, we find the item: "Exer't on Pickett's estate . . . 0 1400 (old Rappahannock
